Summary

Senior Web Developer with 10 years of experience in popular web technologies and methodologies.

I have worked on multiple large projects across various web frameworks, with a strong focus on project architecture, maintainability, readability, performance optimizations, and strict adherence to best practices.

I describe myself as a man of principle who likes to take life one day at a time, continuously seeking out new challenges and opportunities to improve my skills, knowledge, and understanding.

Additionally, my other interests include art, culture, language, history, mythology, philosophy, and more.
